Los hijos, hermanos y la familia de Severiano Ballesteros, deseamos agradecer a las miles de personas, tanto de España como del extranjero, las cariñosas muestras de ánimo y apoyo que Seve y nosotros estamos recibiendo a través de testimonios de todo tipo.

Somos conscientes de que hay mucha gente solidarizándose con Seve en estos momentos tan delicados.

Seve está poniendo en esta dura batalla cuanta fuerza positiva es capaz de generar como ya nos lo viene demostrando desde que supo cual era su enfermedad.

Y con la ayuda de Dios, los neurocirujanos con su equipo al completo y, con quienes velan en la UCI, por su estado de salud, confiamos ciegamente en que Seve saldrá airoso de este duro y difícil compromiso.

El próximo comunicado, nos gustaría que lo hiciese Seve, cuando su salud se lo permita. Mientras tanto, y como ha venido sucediendo hasta ahora, será el propio centro hospitalario quien os mantendrá informados, tal como lo viene haciendo con asidua regularidad.

Finalmente deseamos agradecer a los periodistas, el respeto con el que se le viene tratando a Severiano, en los diferentes medios de comunicación.

Mil gracias,
Baldomero Ballesteros

Madrid, November 3rd 2008

The children, brothers and family of Severiano Ballesteros wish you to thank thousands of people from Spain and abroad, for the different tokens of affection and messages of support that Seve and all of us are constantly receiving.

We are aware that there are many people lining up with Seve in these difficult moments.

Seve is putting as much positive strength in this battle as he is capable of. In fact, something he has been showing us since he knew the nature of his illness.

With the help of God, the neurosurgeons and their teams and those who are keeping watch over his state of health at the Intensive Care Unit, we trust with an unquestioning faith that Seve will come out successfully from this hardship.

We would very much like Seve himself to produce the next press release when his health allows it. Meanwhile and just as like it has been happening lately it will be the hospital who will keep you updated regularly on his progress.

Finally we would like to thank the journalists for the deep respect with which Severiano is being treated in the different media.

Many thanks,
Baldomero Ballesteros
